WELCOME COMPETITION.
THE ALL-WING PLANE.
SOMEONE'S SON.
OGDEN L. MILLS' FIGURES.

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1929, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

LOS ANGELES, CAL., Feb. 11.—"Shell" Oil, British concern, challenging American oil men in their own territory, orders five flying machines to speed up business. The example was set when Standard of Indiana and other American oil companies sent their directors and salesmen flying some years ago.

The extraordinary energy of the shell organization, annoys some American oil men, no doubt. But as they have always preached the great value of competition as compared with anything like public ownership, the oil corporations will doubtless welcome the British display of competing energy.

In developing airplanes the important thing is for engineers to think about flying, without any limitation of birds or any animal or thing now existing. Railroads would not have gone far if locomotive builders had tried to imitate the swift deer, producing a machine with four powerful legs, or levers, pushing along the tracks like the legs of a running deer.

The Northern Air corporation, division of United Aircraft, has demonstrated something new here. The new plane, the "Northrop Alwing," is a flying metal wing, free from "parasite wing resistance" of struts and other encumbrances, to retard the plane's motion.

Able engineers interested in the new plane believe that, with the same horsepower, it will increase speed by from 25 to 30 per cent.

Young Mr. MacDonald, son of the British prime minister, leaves Los Angeles today for Washington, D. C., and setting a good example, goes by airplane.

The younger MacDonald, wise young man, observes American conditions closely and refuses to be taken too seriously, saying "I am only somebody's son."

There is a big difference between saying that, and saying, as some of our rich young gentlemen do, "I am the son of somebody."

Ogden L. Mills, assistant secretary of the United States treasury, in a few words, convinces you that this country has a genuine prosperity, if prosperity consists in getting more of life's good things than anybody else gets.

The United States has only 7 per cent of the world's population and yet, says Mr. Mills, "that per cent consumes approximately 48 per cent of the world's coffee, 53 per cent of the tin, 56 per cent of the crude rubber, 21 per cent of the sugar, 72 per cent of the raw silk, 36 per cent of the coal, 42 per cent of the pig iron, 47 per cent of the copper and 69 per cent of the crude petroleum."

"Out of nearly 32,000,000 automobiles in the world on Jan. 1, 1929, more than 24,000,000 were owned in the United States."

We certainly get our share. Perhaps the world court will tell us we get too much.

Lord ago good missionaries went to Batavia, N. Y., to convert the red men.

Chief Red Jacket, who now has his fine bronze statue in a Buffalo park, listened patiently to the story of the crucifixion, and said, "If you white men killed your god, that is shameful. But it is your affair, not ours. If he had come to us we should have given him a wigwam and treated him kindly. Do not try to make us responsible for what you white men did."

The death of Chief Big Spring, the best and once the richest Indian of the Glacier National park reservation, reminds you that the Indian is kind-hearted and generous, at least sometimes.

When severe weather in 1919 and 1920 reduced many Indians almost to starvation, Chief Big Spring killed his cattle, distributing the beef among them, and gave his horses to those that had none. He died very poor.

Doubtless, however, the angel Gabriel kept a record of his deeds, and he will be rewarded as though he had been white.

Physical limitations of the "Texas cattle tick" arouses the sympathies of proud man, because of his mental limitations. The state of Mississippi has built a double-row barbed wire fence 60 miles long, the two rows of fencing 15 feet apart.

Ticks, falling from cattle on the far side of the fence, can never reach Mississippi's cows, because the tick with his eight legs travels so slowly that it would take him one year to go 10 feet. And he lives only about eight months.

Man, living about three score and ten, with all his struggling travels only a few inches intellectually in that period and dies without getting anywhere "mentally," and dies, as he was born, wondering.

Attack Appointment Of Hughes

SENATOR NORRIS RINGLEADER FOR BLOCKING MOVE

Object To Confirmation At Late Session of Senate

PLEASE WOULD HAVE TAFT HEALTH NOTE

Like Occurrence Came In 1836; Committee Is Said Favorable

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—An attack designed to halt the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States supreme court was launched in the senate late yesterday afternoon.

A situation without precedent for almost a century was presented when Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, a leader of the insurgent Republicans and chairman of the judiciary committee which has the Hughes nomination in charge, but lately attacked the appointment of Mr. Hughes and announced he would vote against confirming the nomination.

Congressional the immediate nomination of Mr. Hughes was blocked by an objection, and while the senate, meeting in open executive session, disposed of routine minor appointments of United States marshals, the nomination for chief justice of the highest tribunal in the country, an office comparable only with that of the presidency, had to go on the calendar.

Vote Not Unanimous
It can be called up in regular order today or at any future time, but developments showed that, while confirmation is still expected to be voted by a majority of the senate, Mr. Hughes will not be confirmed by unanimous vote and there may be further expressions of opposition from progressive and possibly Democratic ranks.

Not since the nomination of Roger B. Taney of Maryland was unsuccessfully opposed in 1836 has the appointment of a chief justice of the United States caused a fight in the senate.

The opposition developed despite the fact that the judiciary committee voted 10 to 2 in favor of confirming the nomination, the two opposing votes being those of Chairman Norris and Senator John J. (Continued on Page 3)

CHURCH PEOPLE TO HEAR PLAN

The official board of the Christian church at a session Monday evening recommended that the ministers pension fund proposition be presented to the congregation next Sunday morning.

A number of the Christian churches in this district have adopted the pension fund plan. L. P. Metzger of Salem, is chairman of the district.

Under the pension plan the church pays 8 per cent of its minister's salary into the fund and the minister pays 2 1/2 per cent of his salary.

A meeting in the interest of the pension plan was held Tuesday in Canton. Rev. C. F. Evans and G. H. Mounts, of the Salem church, attended.

Trappers In County Sell Much Fur

LISBON, O., Feb. 11.—Between $15,000 and $20,000 was paid by buyers to Columbiana county trappers for the pelts of fur bearing animals trapped in this county during the legal season, according to estimates of Len Boring, deputy game protector for Columbiana county. One man trapped fur valued at $2,500 Boring states.

BAG BANDIT IN CONFESSION; TO SERVE IN JAIL

19 Years Penalty Handed Down To Man Who Admits Guilt

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—Jimmy Valentine, 21, Ohio's notorious "leather bag bandit," pleaded guilty to four indictments charging him with robbery when he was arraigned before Judge Dana Farnsworth in the Franklin county criminal court here today and was sentenced to 19 years in the Ohio state penitentiary.

Valentine previously had denied the charges. The youthful, handsome bandit "ran wild" in Columbus and neighboring towns for more than a month before he was captured by police. His "leather bag" monicker had been given him because of the patent leather handbag which he carried with him on all his escapades.

His victims were confined to proprietors and employees of groceries, confectioneries and filling stations. At the point of a gun, the youth forced his holdup victims to empty their cash drawers, safes and pockets and place the contents into the bag, which he placed on the floor. He worked alone and with a speed that was surprising, according to the numerous victims who have identified him as the boy with the patent leather bag.

OHIO TO LEAD ZEP INDUSTRY, ECKENER SAYS

Son of Famous Captain of Graf Zeppelin Lauds State's Chances

LOUD IN PRAISE OF AKRON PLANT

Ten-Year Period Will See Great Development In Aircraft, Claim

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Within 10 years time, the state of Ohio will be known far and wide as the center of one of the world's greatest industries, namely, the manufacture of lighter-than-air craft.

This prediction was made exclusively here today by Knut Eckener, son of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin. The younger Eckener, who is now one of the technicians on the staff of the Goodyear Zeppelin company, attended the annual dinner of the Ohio Society of New York at the Hotel Pennsylvania last night.

Inasmuch as his father is the man who has done more for dirigible travel than any other single person, with the possible exception of Count Zeppelin, Knut Eckener naturally believes in the future of lighter-than-air craft. Less naturally, but equally as steadfastly, he also believes in the future of Ohio as a producer of this mode of conveyance.

Excellent Situation

"Ohio is almost certain to become the center of the Zeppelin industry of the future," young Eckener declared. "It is ideally situated geographically. It might be said that it forms sort of a keystone between two great sections of the country. The Zeppelin manufacturer who locates in Ohio will find his problems of distribution and transportation decidedly simple."

Young Eckener is proud of his affiliation with the Goodyear Zeppelin company and feels that the company's plant at Akron, where the two new giant navy dirigibles are being constructed, is even better equipped than the original Zeppelin plant in Friedrichshafen, Germany.

RETIREMENT OF GRAY APPROVED

Veteran Member of Salem Police Force Submits Petition To Pension Board Monday

The police pension board approved the petition for retirement submitted by Jesse Gray, veteran member of the Salem police force, at its meeting Monday night.

Ralph Stoffer, secretary of the pension board, submitted announcement of the board's action to John R. Kerr, safety director today and requested Kerr to set the date of Gray's retirement.

Gray has been connected with the police force here for 30 years. Investigations by the board revealed he took his first civil service examination in 1900.

Hoover First Of Party To Land Big Gulf Stream Fish

LONG KEY, FLA., Feb. 11.—Elated over the splendid luck which came on his first day fishing in the waters off this island, President Hoover prepared to return today to the gulf stream where he captured a 45-pound sailfin soon after he arrived in the far southern part of the country.

Mr. Hoover's catch was the largest brought into this fishing camp during the day. There were five other big sailfins landed, but no member of the president's party got any of them. Lawrence Richey, one of the president's secretaries, got two king fish and Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, landed two amberjacks. Dr. Boone described his catch as "pulling in two fighting hogs."

The president's party enjoyed its first night in Florida in houseboats anchored a mile or more off shore. The president, Justice Harlan F. Stone, of the United States supreme court, who caught one of these kind of fish that get away, Mark Sullivan and Dr. Vernon Kellogg, slept aboard the "Saunderser," the comfortable house boat which the president has chartered from Jeremiah Milbank of New York.

New Waterford Seeks Supply Of Gas, Old Company Ousted

Attempt To Have Larger Concern Furnish Village Needs

The village of New Waterford has started negotiations with the Natural Gas company of West Virginia for construction of a new gas supply system to replace the old system, owned by the Caulfield Gas company, following an order by the Ohio Public Utilities commission that the latter company discontinue operations in the village.

The commission's order was issued as a result of the village's request that the Caulfield company be removed because of inadequate gas supply. The matter was presented to the commission through the village's city solicitor, F. W. Springer, who had been authorized to act by the village council.

Springer explained to the commission that the supply of gas as produced for the village by the Caulfield company is not only inadequate for the needs of the village but it also creates a hazard during various periods of the year, in securing action on the matter. The gas, according to the solicitor, is so low many times during the winter and summer that flames go out and when pressure is applied the hazard of filling a residence or business place with gas and causing an explosion, is present.

Many residents of the village have abandoned the gas supply entirely and have gone back to the use of coal stoves.

Negotiations have been made with the Natural Gas company several times but this company has refused to consider supplying the village with gas until the Caulfield company was ousted. The Caulfield supply is secured from wells in and near New Waterford and is furnished by Mead Caulfield of Johnstown, Pa.

BYRD SHIP ON SHORE, REPORT

Eleanor Bolling Runs Aground On New Zealand Coast; May Be Floated Soon

London, Feb. 11.—The Eleanor Bolling, supply ship for the Antarctic expedition headed by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd ran aground near Dunedin, New Zealand, according to a central news dispatch from Auckland.

The dispatch added that the commander of the ship hoped to refloat her shortly.

The Eleanor Bolling recently failed in an attempt to find passage through the south polar ice pack to Little America where Admiral Byrd and his companions are located. Admiral Byrd then ordered the ship, by radio, to return to Dunedin while the City of New York, flagship of the expedition, is said to have continued to try to find a way through the ice.

UNDERSEA CRAFT SCORED HEAVILY DURING SESSION

Brought United States In War, Delegate Tells London Meeting

JAPAN AGREES WITH NATION'S ATTITUDE

France, However, Asks to Permit Craft As Used In Defensive

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The reputation of the submarine as anything but a vicious instrument of war appeared to have been ruined for all time today when American and British delegates to the five-power naval disarmament conference raked it from stem to stern with a devastating barrage of hostile criticism.

From sleek prow to submerged rudder the undersea boat was castigated not only as an inhuman and ruthless weapon of warfare, but also as a positive menace to the crew assigned to operate it.

Even Japan, which favors retention of the submarine, was forced to admit that during the last war unlimited submarine warfare had brought about maritime tactics that disgusted the entire world.

Abolition of the submarine was the first question taken up by the conference, meeting in plenary session at St. James's palace. It was the fourth time the parley had assembled in full session since the conference opened with pomp and pageantry in the house of lords just three weeks ago.

MacDonald Opens Meet
The meeting was opened by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald at 11:05 a. m. (6:05 a. m. Salem time.) He announced that the first committee of the conference would shortly be able to announce a solution of the global and categorical limitations questions.

He then called upon A. V. Alexander, British first lord of the admiralty, to set forth Britain's views regarding submarines. The first lord lost no time about launching into the subject, and almost his first words were a bitter and complete indictment of undersea craft.

"Tention of these vessels," Alexander declared, "will always constitute the danger of their employment in the hands of an unscrupulous enemy and will lead to methods of attack which civilized nations regard with horror."

Admitting that in the last war Britain had found it impossible to maintain submarines in defensive (Continued on Page 3)

LINER SINKS AT NEW YORK DOCK; SIX CASUALTIES

North German Lloyd Ship Sinks Following Four Explosions Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Fire followed by three simultaneous explosions which knocked down fire fighters and sent flames mast high broke out on the North German Lloyd steamer Muenchen docked at the foot of Christopher street in the North river today.

The liner sank at the dock at noon. The giant liner had docked at 9 o'clock this morning after one of the roughest passages in its history. Shortly after the 300 passengers had disembarked three explosions rocked the liner from stem to stern. Flames, mast high leaped from her hold.

A fourth explosion shattered the liner as firemen arrived. A cry of "everyman overboard" was sounded and all members of the crew leaped to the water.

They were picked up by firemen and the crews of tugs which were standing by. Five firemen and one stewardess were injured by the fourth explosion. Waiting ambulances rushed them to St. Vincent's hospital.

The force of the fourth blast was said to be terrific. One fireboat pilot was blown completely off the Muenchen.

Scorching heat followed the flames. Fear was expressed by fire fighters that poisonous gases might drift from her hold and further hamper the work. However, the flames had gained such headway that there was little hope of saving the ship.

Condition of Girl Reported Favorable

The condition of Wanda Yarian, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yarian, residing three miles south of Columbiana, who was wounded in the accidental discharge of a revolver, is reported favorable by city hospital officials today.

The girl was wounded when her brother, Willis, picked up a revolver to see whether it was loaded. The gun was discharged and the bullet struck the girl, seated across the room, in the side.

The boy and sister, Margaret, notified neighbors and called a doctor.

The children were not at home alone, as first reported, but a caretaker was present, parents stated today.

WOMAN SHOTS MAN; IN JAIL

Refuses To Discuss Deed To Reporters While In Her Cell

ATLANTA, Feb. 11.—Summoned by a woman's voice to a fashionable address, police today found the bullet-riddled body of John S. Gorman, 40, against the front door, and Mrs. H. L. French, 35, wife of a traveling salesman, sobbing hysterically at a table upon which were scattered many love letters the man had written her.

Mrs. French told police, in incoherent sentences, she shot Gorman, who was said to be a railroad chief dispatcher, when he attempted to force his attentions upon her. She was lodged in the city jail, without the privilege of bond. In her tiny cell she refused to discuss the killing to reporters.

HOUSEWIFERY

It's a long jump from the peaceful pursuit of the theory of home economics as taught in a well-ventilated classroom to the practical application of the theory in an overheated kitchen filled with pungent evidence of burned biscuits. A long jump indeed, but one which co-eds at Ohio State university are trying to take.

Six seniors in home economics are now living with their chaperone and instructor in a "practical house," managed entirely through their own efforts. Their duties are divided and during a six week stay each one has an opportunity to do the marketing, prepare the meals, make the beds and do the incidental housework. It is not a long period of training, but it may help some of them to avoid those fatal first-month mistakes which joggle so many newly-launched matrimonial skirts. Best of all is the information that three dollars a week per person is established as the maximum figure for larger expenditures.

Despite the entrance of women into business and any other activity which she thinks may be attractive, housewifery remains the dominant feminine occupation. Calling for a high degree of skill and only pleasant as that skill is forthcoming, few women enter their careers as home-makers with more than a fudge-making preparation. It is assumed that fingers must be burned, tempers shortened and stomachs discommodated in spite of the fact that millions of girls live for two decades or more with never another thought than becoming wives.

Prospective husbands as well as husbands with bitter newlywed experiences stored away in memory are glad to hear that one university has definitely dedicated itself to a degree of preparation for practical housewifery.

INSECT WARFARE

Experts in another kind of warfare than that which has brought together the naval experts in London will gather in Washington this week. They are soldiers who duty it is to fight insects that menace the crops of American farmers; their warfare is a serious kind because the enemy is already within the gates.

The force of the enemy is beyond calculation. Some divisions have been almost, if not quite, vanquished; as the clutch bag that used to infest the wheat fields of the West until a college professor discovered a fungus as effective in decimating its numbers as machine guns in killing and maiming human beings. The locust comes at long intervals and is not a perennial foe, although powerful.

The potato bug, which still exists in some communities, is an easy and not too belligerent captive and is no longer considered serious.

New pests, however, are constantly arriving from other parts of the world. The names given them sometimes arouse ill feeling against the countries or regions of their origin; as the Japanese beetle, the Mediterranean fruit fly and the Argentine ant. One of these pests is the direct cause for the Washington conference—the European corn borer.

This sturdy soldier of the fields has advanced from the Eastern coast by slow stages and has now reached a point just this side of Chicago. Ohio and Illinois are overrun and strong encampments have been made in particular communities—strong despite the opinions of certain pacifists who see in the whole program of extermination a political scheme.

It is announced by the head of the Federal Bureau of Entomology that there is no hope of completely exterminating the corn borer because it was too well established before it was discovered. The problem is one of adaptation to its presence. The new uses to which corn stalks may be put, making it increasingly profitable to gather them, is one of the steps in this direction.

The Department of Agriculture has spent nearly $10,000,000 aiding the afflicted states during the past three years, but this sum only equals one third of the cost of a battleship. The insect pest is a very real thing, a present danger.

Rutgers university announces the discovery in clay pits near Woodbridge, New Jersey, of the tracks of an unusually large dinosaur of comparatively recent geologic time. The discovery brings the dinosaur millions of years closer to us than has been assumed. Who knows? Maybe those things which we see every day in a while aren't the result of over-indulgence at all.

A fourth pair of twins was born to a young couple in Huntington, Indiana, recently, but no doubt by this time the father has become accustomed to seeing double and doesn't mind it so much.

A lobby inquiry witness suggests abolishing the senate, but it would be more profitable to assess an amusement tax on it.

What Others Say

MEXICO IN STEP

In the gradual Americanization of the world, evidences of which have from time to time been noticed in these columns, Mexico has generally proved to be a stubborn point of resistance. There have been numerous indications that Mexico was indifferent, if not actually hostile, to being Americanized. It will be pleasant news to those who believe the gospel of Americanism that Mexico at last shows signs of yielding.

Very recently communistic demonstrations have been held before the Mexican embassies in Washington, Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Rio Janeiro, Brazil. As a result Mexico has recalled its envoy from Moscow in protest against these activities, which it believes to have been inspired by the Soviets. This blaming of communistic demonstrations against the Mexican government is reminiscent of those days not so long ago when great fear was exercised in this country over the possibility that the red flag would be run over the White House. It is characteristic of the prevailing American spirit, which suspects that all critics of the Government in Washington are the recipients of Bolshevik gold.

So far Mexico has taken only one step, but now that the ice is broken we may perhaps look for a prohibition amendment and other moral laws and a greater attention on the part of Mexico to the ideal of service. Future events in Mexico will be watched with keen anticipation. What will the next step be? Government by commissions, by an anti-saloon league or the organization of dry marines?—The Baltimore Sun.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

RIGHT LIVING PAYS DIVIDENDS

In these modern times the poor old liver is not blamed, as it used to be, for at least half the human ills. It is just as important as ever, of course, but less is said about it.

DR. COPELAND

The liver is a gland, the largest gland in the body. While it varies in shape and size, usually it weighs from three to five pounds. This organ is located in the upper portion of the abdominal cavity, on the right side. It secretes a fluid which is called bile.

The preparation of bile and its delivery to the intestinal tract in proper quantity and quality are among the many marvels of our existence.

Out from the liver run two small tubes, which quickly unite into one. Very soon this passage-way is opened into by another, the latter being the canal which drains the gall bladder. The duct formed in this way is called the "common duct," or the "bile duct."

The common duct is three or four inches long. It opens and discharges into the "duodenum," that part of the intestinal tract which immediately joins the stomach. Any surplus of the bile which is not needed is stored up in the sac known as the gall bladder. This pouch lies on the under side of the right lobe of the liver.

As you see the arrangement I have described is pretty complicated. In consequence, the liver region is liable to get out of order. If we lived as we should, perhaps it would never get out of order. But we don't live right. We eat the wrong foods and do harm by overeating the good ones. Too many people drink alcoholic beverages to excess. Many fail to exercise properly.

Out of these abuses come disturbances of the common duct and the gall bladder. Among these is inflammation of the bile duct and gall bladder. In mild form this is known as "catarrh of the bile duct." It is a frequent trouble. Just as a common cold causes congestion and swelling of the mucous membrane of the nose, so will congestion in this region cause swelling of the common duct. As a result the bile is dammed up, its proper channel of escape being closed. The bile may be absorbed and carried by the blood to every part of the body. That is what produces the peculiar yellow color called jaundice.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

The pace-setters

KEEPING-UP-WITH-THE-JONESES is no mere vagary of the cartoonist. It is an actual condition in every city, town, village and hamlet in this great country.

There is a Jones in every locality to set the pace. But the average Jones is not a rich man—far from it. He has a good job, he dresses well, he is a good talker and splendid company. Jones is always the gentleman, welcomed at business conventions, public dinners and social gatherings alike. Mrs. Jones is envied as a successful hostess. Every woman in her set, and out of it, seeks bids to her bridge parties and other social functions. Their home is cozy, tastefully furnished and provided with most of the modern conveniences.

"How do they do it?" ask the neighbors. "We have as much money as they. Socially we are their equals." But without seeming to try, without putting on any "dog," the Joneses set the pace just the same. They have learned from reading advertisements how to have many desirable things at little cost. They keep up to date on almost everything—just reading advertisements.

Keeping-up-with-the-Joneses is a comparatively easy matter—other things being equal. Read the advertisements regularly. Study them. Remember what you learn. Then, when you are in the market for anything, you will know, just as they do, what kind to buy. Soon you'll find yourself saving money, yet having more than you ever had. You'll find folks wondering how you do it. Oh, yes! It's fairly easy if you make the most of your opportunities.

Advertisements are opportunities — study them to your own advantage

BUS OFFICIALS FACING CHARGE

Manslaughter Lodged For Death of Two In Highway Wreck

EATON, O., Feb. 11.—A bus driver and two officials of the Greyhound bus lines stood indicted here today on manslaughter charges when the county grand jury heard them responsible for a bus crash which claimed two lives here Jan. 2.

Wibur Spratt, of Indianapolis, the driver, O. S. Carter, president of the company, and E. D. Kober, of Chicago, general manager of the transportation company, were the men who were named in the indictment.

Officials of the company told the public utilities commission that they have been unable to locate Spratt since he was discharged from an Indianapolis hospital.

The investigation revealed that Spratt had been up all day previous to the crash as he had driven the bus to the Indiana capital on its westward run. He then drove the bus on its return trip.

Thomas Carney, of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miss Esther Masters, of Columbus, were the two passengers who were killed.

Investigate Death Of Ohio Resident

URBANA, O., Feb. 11.—An investigation was begun here today by Champaign county officials into the death of Harry C. Russell, 62, whose body was found Sunday night in a buggy, a half mile east of Mingo, near here.

Officials at first thought that the man had died a natural death, but friends of the dead man objected to such a verdict, and rumors that the man had met with foul play, were circulated throughout the county.

More than a dozen witnesses are to be summoned for the investigation, according to Sheriff Wilbur Wilkins.

NAVAL PARITY

positions solely, he put forward an unqualified demand for their complete abolition, stating that they constituted a definite menace even to the health and safety of the crews which operate them.

Stimson Makes Address

Speaking on behalf of the United States, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson then put forward an urgent plea for submarine abolition, leaving no alternative to removing undersea craft entirely from the fleets of the world.

Denying the contention that submarines were purely defensive arms, he declared that to sanction their use would be a "contradiction of the purposes for which we have met."

The essential objection of the submarine, he said, "is that it is a weapon particularly susceptible to abuse, that it is susceptible of use against merchant ships in a way that violates alike the laws of war and the dictates of humanity."

Submarines during the last war, the American chief delegate declared, "revolted the conscience of the world," and were directly responsible for having forced the United States into the conflict.

M. Georges Leygues, French minister of marine, followed Col. Stimson. He told the conference France opposed unrestricted submarine warfare and agreed to restrict the use of submarines against merchant ships. France, he declared, was willing to accept articles one and two of the Root resolution, but was forced to reject the remainder.

M. Leygues then launched into a long argument designed to prove that submarine usage can be controlled effectively.

Setting forth the other side of the picture, Admiral Takeshi Takarabe, Japanese minister of marine, declared his nation considered submarines valuable instruments of defense, but disapproved of the use to which they were put in the Great War.

M. Georges Leygues, French minister of marine, put forth a strong plea in favor of submarines, declaring that France flatly opposed their abolition and justifying their existence on the ground they could be regulated in their use just the same as all other classes of warships.

He submitted a proposal for a new submarine agreement, under which submarines would be governed by the same rules now guiding the activities of surface craft against merchant ships.

Benito Grandi, Italian foreign minister, followed M. Leygues. He said Italy would favor complete abolition provided all the other powers accepted.

The conference adjourned at 8:34 a. m. Eastern Standard time. The last speaker was T. M. Wilford of New Zealand who said unless the submarine was used as an offensive weapon it was useless as a means of defense.

Bandit Dies After Making Error

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The oversight of four youthful Negro bandits who commanded their victim to put his hands behind him instead of up had resulted today in the death of one and the wounding of another.

When Mrs. Elmer Belgin heard the youths command her husband to hand over his cash she found a pistol in the rear of their dilapidated shop and slipped it through a curtain into her husband's hand.

Belgin opened fire, fatally wounding Louis Davis, 18, and wounding Milton Turner, 18, in the hand.

THREE DIE IN BOSTON BLAZE

Poor House Burns With Loss of Life; 15
Are Injured

BOSTON, Feb. 11.—Three persons were burned to death, two were probably fatally hurt and 15 others were slightly injured today when fire swept the poor house at Brockton, 40 miles south of Boston.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Baker, 62, an unidentified woman and an unidentified negro.

The fire, of undetermined origin, started in the laundry and rapidly swept through the three-story wooden building, which housed 60 women and 23 men.

Scenes were carried from the burning structure in night clothes by firemen, who made repeated dashes into the flames to rescue the terrified inmates.

Loss was estimated at $100,000.

Banker Told to Use Eyes During Holdups

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 11.—Bankers should use their eyes as weapons against bank bandits instead of firearms, L. Osborn, head of the Indiana bureau of criminal identification, told the members of the Indiana State Bankers' association here.

"Don't resist the robber, but look him over carefully from head to foot, so that you can recognize him when police arrest him later, as usually happens," Osborn said.

Proud Mother!

Bobby Temple, 7, of 5883 Pearl Road, Cleveland, is the picture of health. No wonder his mother says: "I'm proud as can be of my little son. He's always bright, active, robust."

"I give California Fig Syrup a lot of credit for his wonderful condition. I have used it with him for every little upset or cold. It always has him back to normal in a few hours."

When a child shows, by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or feverishness, that the little bowels are clogged, you know the system needs a prompt cleansing.

California Fig Syrup does the work quickly and gently. In addition, it helps tone and strengthen weak bowels and stomach. So it gives lasting help.

The word California marks the genuine; the pure vegetable product loved by children and pronounced safe and effective by doctors. Adv.

BETTMAN RULES ON BUS PROBLEM

Boards May Require Man
Driving To Carry
Liabilities

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 11.—A board of education may require, in contracts for transportation of pupils by school buses, that the pupils and other persons be protected against the negligence of the driver by means of liability insurance.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman today gave his ruling to the state utilities commission.

The opinion was asked for as a result of the recent school bus disasters at Shreve and Berea.

Bettman said no one can be employed as the driver of a school bus who has not given satisfactory and sufficient bond. This means, he said, that boards of education can require bonds sufficient to cover whatever liability might accrue against the driver growing out of his employment.

Furnace Company In Court Coal Action

Liben, Feb. 11.—In addition to a suit for $25,000 having been filed against the Hanna Furnace company, of Cleveland, with plants located at Leetonia, an accounting is asked by Peter Neimeisel and Anna Elmer.

The plaintiffs have set up in a petition that the Hanna Furnace company took coal from a mine located on the property of the plaintiffs and that the defendants also dismantled equipment that had been installed in the mine.

SENATOR NORRIS

Blocks Immediate Vote

But it was a Democrat, Senator Cole Blaise of South Carolina, who blocked an immediate vote on the nomination. At about 5 p. m. the senate went into open executive session and minor appointments reported by Norris were confirmed without objection. Then Senator Norris reported the nomination of Mr. Hughes.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader, asked unanimous consent for immediate consideration of the nomination. Senator Simon D. Fess of Ohio, who was presiding, asked if there were objections.

"I object," shouted Senator Blaise.

"There being objection, the nomination will go to the calendar," said Senator Fess, and Watson sat down.

Privately, Senator Blaise later said he objected because he "wanted to get some doctors' certificates about the condition of Chief Justice Taft," to know whether Mr. Taft's condition is as serious as reported, and whether ill health really forced his resignation.

Engineers Favored By Thos. Edison

FT. MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, world famous inventor, declared in an interview today on the occasion of his eighty-third birthday that the American people can accomplish more in the next year "by paying more attention to engineers than politicians."

He said he thought the five day week "O. K." and declared that the field of chemistry and physics offers the greatest field for opportunity. He expressed the opinion that the London naval conference will arrive at a sane compact to bring about a reduction in armament.

Standard Oil of Ohio engineers do something EXTRA to Sohio Ethyl Gasoline for cold-weather use. They increase its volatility—actually give it 35% greater starting power than in summer. That means ACTION at the touch of the starter—REAL action! Also less choking, less oil dilution, less carbon—and the same smooth, knockless, long-mileage power that has made Sohio famous.

Try it! Every drop is the same at every Red-White-and-Blue Service Station and Pump in the State.

"THE STREET GIRL"

At The Grand

"Street Girl" will appeal to almost any type of audience. It has everything that goes to make up the perfect entertainment. Betty Compton capably plays the lead as an appealing little violinist and entertainer in a New York East Side cafe. She really plays the violin, and does it most satisfactorily.

One of the high spots of the show is the comedy furnished by probably the best combination of comics ever presented in a picture. Jack Oakie, Ned Sparks and Joseph Cawthorn, all familiar to musical comedy and motion picture audiences, got every laugh possible from Jane Muffin's sparkling dialogue.

"Street Girl" presents four of the most intriguing musical numbers which have come to town this year. "My Dream Memory," a bewitching waltz, featured in Miss Compton's violin numbers; "Lovable" and "Sweet"; "Prince of Good Fellows" and "Broken Up Tune," featured by a fast-stepping chorus in the night club sequences, are marked as instantaneous hits.

"ISLE OF LOST SHIPS"

At The State

The long awaited all-star talking drama of shipwreck, mystery, escape by submarine and battles for love in the Sargasso Sea, "The Isle of Lost Ships," is now thrilling and chilling folk at the State.

Virginia Valli, Jason Robards and Noah Beery head the cast, while Robert O'Connor, Robert Homans, Harry Corning, Clarissa Selwynne, Margaret Fielding, Katherine Ward, Jack Ackroyd, Frank Chew, Sam Baker and Max Davidson have important roles. Irvin Willat directed.

Cleveland Scene of Methodist Meeting

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11.—Approximately 800 Methodist delegates, most of whom are ministers, were in Cleveland today for a three-day convention.

The delegates, representing practically every large city in the United States, will discuss problems confronting the city church.

Outstanding bishops attending the convention, which is known as the eighth council of cities, are: Bishops Francis J. McConnell, New York; Edgar Blake, Indianapolis; E. O. Richardson, Philadelphia; Herbert Welch, Pittsburgh, and Charles Wesley Burns, San Francisco.

Bishop Richardson will preside at the first session of the convention.

CHESTER, W. VA., Feb. 11.—A Earl Wilson, wholesale grocery salesman and now city clerk, was nominated for mayor at the March 12 election by a Republican city convention.

Other nominees named are: Virgil Hanson, city clerk; Albert J. Kell, John Hobbs, Clarence Montjoy, Roy Bartley and W. G. McGahan, councilmen.

The independent and citizens parties, which later will name tickets, will endorse Wilson for the mayoralty, it was indicated.

Warren "Striker" In 23rd Day of Fasting

WARREN, O., Feb. 11.—Emaciated, hollow-cheeked, and heavily bearded, Richard Stewart, Warren's "valiant rug merchant," tightened his belt another notch today and continued his "hunger strike" in the Trumbull county jail here into its 27th day.

For amusement the prisoner, who is fasting as a form of "punishment" to Police Judge C. B. Perry for fining him $200 and costs on charges of molesting a woman, has a varied assortment of comic valentines, sent to him by Warren people. Stewart's foodless vigil is being taken as more or less of a joke.

Constant watch is being kept over the "hunger striker" by Sheriff J. C. Risher and his deputies. A physical examination of Stewart has revealed that the man is in excellent condition, according to the sheriff.

Aged War Veteran Ends His Own Life

URBANA, O., Feb. 11.—John S. Dear, 65, Civil War veteran, of Howlandville, is dead here today, following an alleged suicide.

The aged man's body was found in Cedar creek, about a mile from his home. It is believed that Dear committed suicide by drowning in the creek, as he had made threats of taking his own life during the past few weeks, according to relatives.

He was one of the four surviving members of the old Eighth Ohio cavalry, which served in the Civil War.

Salem High Varsity Scheduled For Two Contests During Week

NEW SCORING SYSTEM MAY CAUSE SPLIT IN COUNTY ATHLETICS

Withdrawal Of Class A Schools From Meet This Spring Probable

With the possibility that Class A schools will have to compete against smaller county schools against the handicap of a new "points-per-student" system at the annual county track and field meet this spring, chances for withdrawal of these schools in favor of other competitions in the district seem more than probable in Salem, East Liverpool and Wellsville.

Wellsville, Liverpool and Salem officials definitely have opposed the new scoring plan, devised and submitted by William E. Ward, East Palestine High faculty manager, but its adoption appeared certain as a result of the deadlock in voting at the county track and field association's annual midwinter session in Lisbon, Saturday.

Exponents of the plan—officials from Palestine, Lisbon and Leetonia, went on record as declaring that the plan will increase interest in the county event, giving smaller schools greater advantage and allowing them a chance to compete with the Class A representatives. Representatives of the six schools at the meeting, each school being allowed two votes, cast ballots on the proposition that resulted in a six-to-five tie.

Columbiana To Decide Vote

The deciding vote will be cast by Columbiana High, the school active in county track competition. It is definitely understood that officials there will vote favorably on the system, an act that will result in the adoption of Ward's plan.

Coach Earl Zook, successor to Joe Hurst as East Liverpool High head athletic coach, suggested at the meeting that the meet be divided into Class A and Class B divisions and that the scoring plan, as suggested by Ward, be dropped but the smaller schools, content that the plan will be adopted, refuse to consider the classification.

Larger schools will be handicapped considerably under the new scoring plan, for under it, Salem will be forced to score twice the number of points amassed by Wellsville, East Palestine or Lisbon and more than three times the number scored by Columbiana or Leetonia.

East Liverpool and Wellsville, neither of which has accomplished wonders in track and field conquests, will be handicapped in the same manner. Liverpool more so than Salem, in that it must score 20 more points than the Red and Black in order to outscore Salem. If both Salem and Liverpool tallied 60 points in a county meet, under Ward's plan, Salem would be declared the winner with a total of 2 points and Liverpool would receive 139.

Under this handicap, it appears highly improbable that the larger trio of schools will continue to compete in the county meet unless the old plan is brought into use or Class A and Class B schools compete in their own events.

Main Objection

The main objection to the new plan is based on the contention that it places a premium on winning the meet, larger schools stated Saturday. Ward's plan, as submitted to the association, follows:

"I am submitting, herewith, a plan, which, I think, will renew interest, make competition more keen, and result in a better Columbiana county track and field meet.

"The plan is to put the outcome of the meet on a point per boy basis, that is, by using the present system of scoring, 5-3-2-1, each team score as many points as possible and then divide the total score by each school by then number of boys enrolled in that school. The school that has the highest number of points per boy wins. To make representation fair, a school will be allowed one boy for every 100 boys, or fraction thereof, entered.

"I believe the above plan is fair and will give the small school just as much chance as, and no more than, the large school.

"What sport is there in competing in a contest if you have no chance of winning. Or again, what sport is there in winning a sure thing? The most interesting contests are the closely played ones.

"With four or five entries in each event a school's chances of scoring points will be increased, because the school with only one entry cannot take more than five points, while the school with only four entries can take all 11 points, or if they do not take first, they still have a chance for second, third and fourth which would net them six points.

If a school of 75 boys can produce one high jumper, why can't a school of 300 boys develop four high jumpers? If they can't, they do not excel. It is only by their greater number of boys that they win.

"The plan, as I see it, is in harmony with the modern idea of reducing material to a unit basis, as a rational means of comparison.

"It is only for the good of the meet that I suggest a change in plan, for if something is not done, several years will see the finish of the Columbiana county track and field meet.

"Several schools have kept up their interest in track, but most of our county schools are slowly dying in track, because of the lack of a chance to win.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. E. WARD

Frosh Passers Trim Seniors

Yearlings Force League Into Tie With 21-13 Victory Monday

Freshmen class basketballers issued a strong threat for interclass honors in the high school league, annihilating senior tossers by a 21-13 score Monday.

It was the first defeat of the season for the upper class-men who previously led the league with four straight wins. The frosh are now tied with the seniors for first place in the loop.

Scoring was evenly divided among the yearlings, each player scoring two field goals. Schmid was the leading scorer for the seniors and had individual honors for the game with eight points.

Victorio Campolo And Primo Carnero Slated For Battle In New Heavyweight Elimination

Loughran To Meet Tuffy Griffith In Second Major Battle

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—If the Muldoon-Tunney committee has its way, and nobody is going to drive up in a hearse and tell it to go sell its pretzels down in the middle of the block, Victorio Campolo and Primo Carnera, the giraffe and the rhinoceros, will have at it no later than July 4, as the first of a series of re-eliminations that will begin this summer as soon as the identity of the new heavyweight champion is established.

Plans for the next elimination tournament have reached this point. I am informed today, with the remainder of the proposed program having advanced no further than a tentative stage.

At the moment, I believe this calls for a fight between Tommy Loughran and Tuffy Griffith, the young man who got such a run-around here recently that he broke training and began riding on carousels. Also for the much-discussed fight between Schmeling and Scott, provided both are beaten by Sharkey. As for the humpty dumpty, Carnera and Campolo, they are supposed to go on either at the Yankee stadium or polo grounds and the date will come just after or some weeks before the title meeting on June 26.

Personally, I feel that mistake will be made if they don't decide this question by having one man fight at the stadium and the other at the Polo grounds. At that, they are liable to draw a half-million-dollar gate, because nobody knows anything about either of them, which is the ideal state for any prize fighter.

In lining up its possibilities, the committee is making much haste

Victory Over Lou Scozza Wins Recognition Of N. Y. Commission

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 11.—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, today was considered the world's light heavyweight champion, at least in New York state. He won the recognition of the state athletic commission last night when he defeated Lou Scozza, another local pride, in 15 rounds.

Slattery was credited with nine rounds, but in the 13th it was necessary for him to employ all his ring generalship to stave off a salvo.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Neat to the eye, fresh and soft, and pleasant in flavor—these are the requisites of party sandwiches, meaning late afternoon or evening.

Bread may be white or brown, but in any case, it should be cut thin, very thin, and the crusts trimmed. A very sharp knife is essential as it will make a lot of difference in the smoothness and attractive appearance of the finished sandwiches.

Butter may be rubbed with a spoon until it is soft, easy to spread, and it should be spread thinly. It need not be used at all, however, if mayonnaise or French dressing is blended with the filling. After spreading the filling on one side, press the upper slice of bread on top and cut with the sharp knife into four parts—either four squares, or four triangles by cutting from one corner to another. Both add to the pleasant variety of shape.

Or, instead of trimming the crusts, the bread can be cut into rounds with a metal cookie cutter or the top of a jar. They should be very small circles, or otherwise cut in halves to form semicircles.

Pile the finished sandwiches on several plates into an attractive mound, then cover closely with a large earthen or metal bowl. They will keep fresh for hours in this way—and it is a little tidier than covering with a damp cloth. Or, if there is a wide enough sheet of oiled paper to completely cover the dish, this is almost as good as an earthen bowl.

For a large party there should be two types of sandwiches—both sweet and pungent, because some persons never eat one kind or another. And they should be on separate plates, so that there is neither doubt nor disappointment after choosing.

The non-sweet sandwiches can be almost anything—meats, fish, vegetables, cheese. But they should be finely chopped so that the food is spread easily and neatly and there's no chance of awkwardness in serving.

Sweet sandwiches may be fruits, jams, nuts. But these also need to be finely minced in order to spread easily.

Sweet Sandwiches

Nuts—like walnuts or almonds or pecans, chopped fine, and rubbed to a paste with cream cheese or mayonnaise.

Fruits—like chopped raisins or figs or dates or preserved ginger combined with nuts or cheese and mayonnaise.

Marmalades plain and thinly spread, with chopped nuts.

Grated coconut mixed with any jams or preserves.

A layer of jelly like currant, crab apple or quince, spread on one slice, and a thin layer of cream cheese spread on another, the two slices then being folded together.

Pungent Sandwiches

Any cooked or preserved fish, flaked finely, then rubbed to a smooth paste with oil, lemon juice, and seasoned.

Cooled meat, like chicken, veal, lamb mixed with made mustard and spread.

Caviar spread thinly and seasoned with a few drops of lemon juice.

Olives, chopped, mixed with chopped watercress and mayonnaise.

Chopped eggs mixed with olives or pimento and mayonnaise.

Mixed chicken and chopped almonds and mayonnaise.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Restaurant ensembles can now rest on their laurels, having proved themselves to be the most charmingly practical garments for women in business, those who live in hotels or who travel a great deal and the ones who prefer informal social life.

They are coming out on simple and very elaborate lines, as a substitute or complement of the very formal evening dress, just as the wearer chooses.

For the former one dressmaker is using black crepe soles, the gown long but not trailing with its low-cut décolletage hidden by such a sober coat that the costume can appear on the street or any suburban train. Distinction is produced by the fine seams, bandings and scalloped hem. A little hat of hemp lace and pink moire completes the costume.

A charmingly youthful and becoming restaurant ensemble which of course is a bit more habille. It has a diagonally tucked bodice, very long skirt flared from the hip-line and over it comes a short black velvet jacket.

One idea destined to success is the restaurant coat matching the printed chiffon dress and lined with contrasting or harmonizing velvet. It solves a problem by creating an invisible coat line for the uneven long skirts which have certainly been a worry for many women.

A most successful little restaurant dress comes in black satin with polka dots set far apart. It has a short coat. A dress of pale blue printed crepe de chine has a coat of chestnut brown.

PARIS, Feb. 11.—Forecasting colors for spring and summer wear, Paris dressmakers seem to be strengthening the use of pastel tints, reserving bright shades for sports wear.

Riviera wear which is always the shadow of what goes before, general spring wear, shows a strong tendency toward soft colors. A few soft, purple shades are favored, some reds and other tender browns and tawns. Green in all tones is expected to be one of the most important spring colors, especially apple and lettuce-green. Navy blue is endorsed for frocks of the strictly wearable type and black for the sophisticated gown.

Apart from the normal gamut of pastel shades with pink, light blue, lemon and sea-green predominating, pale cyclamen and soft lavender and some string-green and gold effects are prominent in the collections for southern wear.

At a recent wedding the group of lovely bridesmaids wore frocks in bois de rose georgette, embroidered in gold beads and having over-skirts of gold net, likewise embroidered. Their hats were of the same shade, trimmed with a large rose and the coats they wore over their frocks were of a charming shade of blue.

Another wedding party was even more original, with varying shades of pastel hues for each and every bridesmaid. The dresses were of chiffon, all different and running the gamut from maize to amber.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

Probably in the modish room of the future, only half of the furniture will be visible most of the time. For what with the growing tendency to live in apartments rather than houses—and the gradual contraction of space in apartments, there is no longer sufficient area for all the massive pieces that used to be considered indispensable.

Yet, though we may not have space to accommodate a nine-foot table there may be times when we need one. Not to mention the many small tables that are absolutely essential—for tea, or bridge or just as occasional tables near chairs and settees. Can we own such furniture when we haven't the space for it—merely the need every so often? It's another case of wanting to eat your cake and have it, too, but the ingenious furniture designers of today are providing a quite satisfactory answer—collapsible furniture!

Chairs to begin with. Even though the apartment may be small the hospitable owners who like big parties can have enough of the collapsible chairs stowed away in the hall closet to take care of a goodly number. No, these aren't the "folding chairs" of the Victorian period, associated with solemn occasions only. Several manufacturers are producing quite handsome chairs of mahogany or stained metal, very comfortable, with arms and spacious seats, so that there's nothing makeshift about them when set up. Nevertheless, they fold up flat as a card-table, and half a dozen can be stowed away in a little extra space in a hall closet.

As for comparable tables, these are now made in all sorts of attractive shapes and designs. A specially lovely one with an ample square top can be folded over curved legs and shoved in a corner, flat against a wall. Another of this type has a beautiful print painted on its top, and is so made that when not used as a table it can be folded into an upright position, and placed before the fireplace, making a most attractive screen. A new kind of butler's tray comes with legs that fold neatly under the top and quite disappear. It can be used as a hand tray to serve ices, sandwiches, cocktails, etc., or equipped with full tea or coffee service. After dinner coffee service it can be carried into the living room, the legs straightened out beneath, and behold, it's a regulation small table.

Another unusual tray suitable for delicacies, or individual servings is a simple affair of metal. It consists of a nickel frame into which three metal trays can be fitted along various heights. Carried, it may contain quite a number of delicacies—sandwiches, candies, cookies, etc. When not in use, it is easy to take apart and so flat that it slips into a shallow drawer.

Modern cellophane are also of the collapsible variety though they may be very elaborate when laid out for complete action. Not in use, one of these looks like a small and very ordinary serving tray on wheels, except that instead of open trays the space under the top surface is filled with deep drawers.

When open, however, the top surface can be spread in four directions, whereon beverages may be mixed and served. The space below a deep drawer, discloses rows of ingredients, all within convenient reach. Also, on one side, is a porcelain lined drawer to contain cigars and cigarettes.

How They Grew Thin

You will be surprised, if you look around, at how many people have grown thin in late years. It is evident that some new method has come into very wide use.

It has been found that a weak gland is a great cause of obesity. So modern physicians have been fighting that cause, without starvation diets.

This right method is embodied in Marmola's prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in almost every circle the delightful results are apparent.

A book in each box of Marmola tells you how and why it acts. The formula is given. Go try this remarkable, natural means. Ask your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.

Factors of Personal Service in Stock Fire Insurance

The Agent:

Stock Fire Insurance companies have personal representatives in almost every city, town and hamlet in this country.

In no other business does the agent mean so much—in no other field is the relation of the agent with his principal more intimate.

These thousands of local agents, entrusted with great authority—qualified and equipped to render intelligent insurance service—make available to every American community the many helpful activities of the Stock Fire Insurance business.

The Underwriter:

On the judgment and experience of the underwriter, contracts for insurance protection are accepted or rejected. The public and the insurance companies are jointly interested in preventing unwarranted or illegitimate loss payments. By considering individual responsibility, and using the vast amount of reliable information by which risks are judged, the underwriter serves the public by avoiding improper losses.

The Inspector:

Here is "the watchman in the tower". He is alert—intent upon discovering hazards which threaten the destruction of life and property and add to the cost of insurance. From his findings you may obtain sound advice, based upon knowledge of construction, fire prevention, fire fighting methods, hazards of occupancy and processes, and other conditions which go to make property safe or unsafe.

The Adjuster:

This man follows disaster. Owing to the disturbed condition of the policy-holder at the moment, his task is difficult. But his purpose is to settle each legitimate claim in keeping with the rights of the interested parties. Less than one percent of his adjustments—with nearly a million reports of losses each year—are followed by litigation; a fine tribute to his fairness and ability.

All of these personal factors are an essential part of the service rendered by Stock Fire Insurance.

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper figure, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures, or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

NATURAL 100% BRAN FAVORED BY DOCTORS

93% of Group of Physicians Express Preference

Every man or woman who suffers from atonic constipation will find really helpful advice in the words of this group of physicians.

Not long ago ten thousand doctors were asked this question, "Do you believe that raw, natural 100% bran is the best form of bran for the relief of constipation?"

93% of the answers were "Yes."

Here is expert opinion. Do you suffer from bowel irregularity resulting from intestinal sluggishness? Are you troubled with headaches, lassitude, sleeplessness, nervousness, sallowness, loss of vitality, and the increased susceptibility to serious disease which result from constipation? You need natural 100% bran. Your grocer has it—Pillsbury's bran, natural 100% bran, nothing added, nothing taken away.

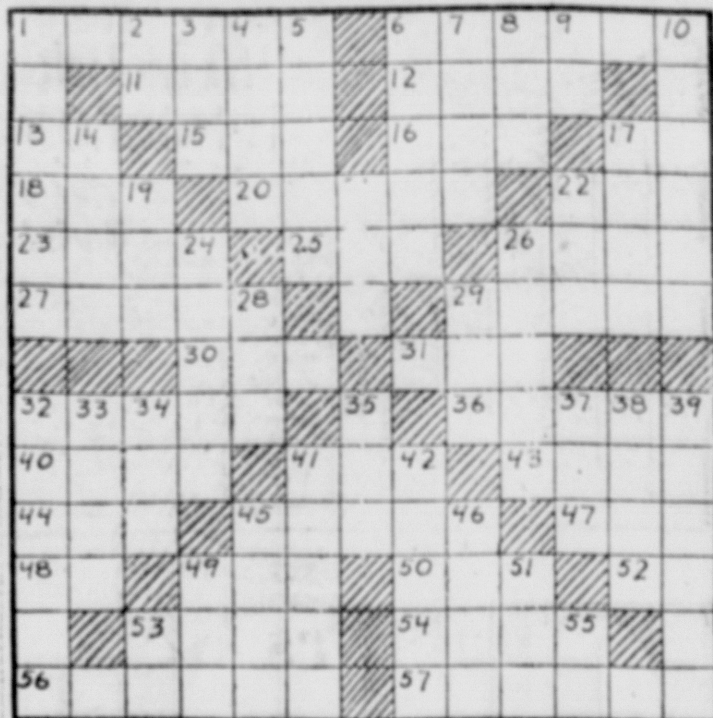

Pillsbury's Bran supplies the roughage which is so necessary nowadays. Primitive man had roughage in his ordinary diet, and had no constipation. Modern man should add roughage to his soft food—should add it every day.

Pillsbury's Bran is roughage in a most effective form. You can use it to prepare many delicious foods—muffins, tea cakes, apple cake, macaroons, doughnuts, etc.—and these are on the Pillsbury package. You can sprinkle it over salads, or mix it with cereals. You can eat it as it comes from the package, with cream and sugar. No matter how you use Pillsbury's Bran, you may be sure you are getting the right kind of bran—natural 100% bran, recommended by this overwhelming majority of physicians.

LETTER SERIES WILL TELL OF TRIP OVER AFRICAN CONTINENT

A. B. Culbertson Will Take News Readers on Voyage from Cape to Cairo by Rail, Boat, Auto; First Article Now Appears

[Editor's note: This is the first of a new series of articles by A. B. Culbertson who is making a trip around the world. He is an uncle of Wilbur Springer, Salem educator, through whose courtesy these letters are reproduced. Others will follow from time to time.]

BY A. B. CULBERTSON
In pursuance of my promise I shall now attempt as best I can to describe my trip through darkest Africa from Cape to Cairo. A part of this trip was outlined in an earlier letter but in view of the fact that copies of this letter may not have reached some of my readers who have found an interest in following me on my little journey round the world, those of you who did receive a copy of this letter will bear with me if I repeat this portion of the journey and take you with me over the entire route.

In the first place, I want to hasten to inform you that this description will begin with Bulawayo in Southern Rhodesia and not at Capetown.

In this, upon first thought, you may be disappointed but when I explain more fully, I think you will agree with me that the omission of this part of the trip from Capetown to Bulawayo will be of relative unimportance in connection with my little venture through some of the wildest parts of Africa.

The extreme southern portion of the big continent, as you are no doubt aware, is most highly developed, having a civilization almost as old as our own, with not a few large towns and even fair sized cities which are quite modern and up-to-date.

Scenery Is Excellent
There is also some highly fine scenery too, notably Table Mountain and the shoreline about the Cape of which the Colony is justly proud, and perhaps worthy of a trip all the way from Europe or America to see, at least the various tourist agencies and S. S. lines would have you believe.

But in this I was not particularly interested at this time. What I most wanted to see, and had come so far out of my way to see, was some big game in its natural haunts—and not in a zoological garden or behind wire cages as we are accustomed to see them. Every small European community down here which has managed to get a toe-hold points with justifiable pride to what has been accomplished—they want you to see order, while what the average traveler who comes to Africa is looking for is chaos—denatured Africa, if you choose to call it—and to visit the country while it is yet unspoiled by so-called modern civilization.

For this reason I chose to put in from the east coast and begin my wanderings up through the interior at Bulawayo, which is practically the last outpost of this more settled part of Africa.

From Beira, where I landed after a voyage of some 16 days diagonally across the Indian ocean from Bombay, India, to Bulawayo, is approximately 1400 miles and is reached in about 64 hours time by a most comfortable train twice a week. From Capetown or Durban the trip can be made by fast express trains (scheduled daily) in a little less time, both routes being about equally distant.

It is not generally known, or appreciated, I believe, that the entire trip from Capetown to Cairo can now be made by all mechanical means—that is, by train, steamboat and automobile combined, in something like 40 days, providing, of course, you are lucky enough to make all of your connections, weather permitting, and you don't jump off the track, or some of the newly laid rails.

This course follows pretty closely the proposed all rail route (dream of the late Cecil Rhodes) all of which has already been surveyed and a portion of which has actually been constructed. Whether it will ever be completed, I have my doubts. What, together with the almost prohibitive cost the small amount of traffic that could be developed for many years to come and the much quicker means of transport by airplane, which bids fair to be accomplished in the very near future, I am inclined to the opinion that it will always be more or less a day dream.

Nevertheless, as I have said and proved, the entire trip can now be made easily and without any great discomfort or real danger, which, only a few years ago was looked upon as a journey of hardships fraught with danger and difficulties only to be surmounted by the most intrepid and daring travelers and explorers.

Build New Highway
The last link of this trip was made possible by the construction of a public highway, financed and built jointly by the Uganda and Sudan governments (so far practically monopolized by the Motor Tours Co., Ltd.) which company has constructed a chain of camps, or rest houses over the entire 600 miles of roadway from Kampala to Refaj, which is the beginning of the long trip down the river Nile.

This route, which passes through swamps and some of the most tropical portion of Central Africa and which also invades territory occupied by some of the most primitive tribes found today in all Africa, was opened up to vehicle travel in 1928, in which year the manager of the motor company informed me 17 people went out this way, while up to the present time in 1929 nearly 300 passengers had already been booked, which not only attests to the feasibility but popularity of this route.

Of course, before the highway was put through, it was possible to make the same trip by safari (President Roosevelt came out this way in 1906) that is, on foot with a small army of native "boys" to accompany you.

These porters, or boys as they are called, carry your luggage, camp equipment and necessary supplies and also act as guides and for protection against wild beasts and the oftentimes wilder native tribes. The greatest danger, however, was from fever, the malaria mosquito and dreaded tsetse fly, the bite or sting of the latter being almost always fatal to domestic animals and causing the almost as fatal lingering "sleeping sickness" among both Europeans and natives alike. Both the mosquito and the fly are still present, but by taking proper precautions and keeping in-doors after sundown, the danger has been minimized.

Gives His Reasons
You have perhaps wondered what led me, a usually orderly common American citizen, to undertake this long and sometimes tedious journey through the interior instead of going by the much more comfortable and usual way of traveling from one part of the country to another by steamship, following the coast line and putting in at convenient points tapped by railway.

This same question was put to me upon my arrival at Nairobi, Kenya Colony after having learned of course that I had come from the west rather than by way of Mombasa on the east side and since I had actually come that way (which I could see many of them still had their doubts) just why one should elect to come all the way up through the interior anyway. At this I was not greatly surprised for even a very officious railroad official down in Beira had doubted the same thing when I went over the proposed route—in fact told me it could not be done.

He said at least a part of the distance (some 300 miles) between Tabora and Mwanza at the foot of Lake Victoria, would have to be negotiated by auto, if I could get one, which he very much doubted, and that this part of the journey would take me into one of the worst infested fly districts of all Africa.

He said that a railroad had been planned, and partly constructed but as yet, had not been completed and to assure me he knew what he was talking about, dismissed the conversation with the remark "and I will be the first to be notified when it is", yet upon my arrival at Tabora found that the said road had not only been completed but that regularly scheduled (once a week) passenger service had been in effect since the previous August, some eight months and this same very important official, who pretends to operate a railroad from Beira to Bulantyre, with headquarters at latter point, not more than 300 miles, as the crow flies—much farther around of course, knew nothing of it. It only goes to show how little is known of this vast and as yet undeveloped country, even by those living in it.

One community does not know what is going on in an adjoining section and especially if outside the sphere of their own particular government which makes it so hard in traveling through Africa to get reliable information. Then, too, there apparently is much rivalry and jealousy between the several nations in control much like that which, in a smaller way, exists at present in Europe; each going about it in its own way in working out its own problems and not anxious or willing to give out information which, as they see it, only concerns themselves. To this I simply replied I was looking for adventure and the possibility of seeing big game.

Torturing Sciatica Yields To This Simple Treatment

"Owa-Ton-Na Is a Real Blessing to Suffering Humanity" Says Mrs. Mary Speelman

MRS. MARY SPEELMAN

"Rheumatism scattered all through my body and later settled in the sciatic nerve, then the pain became torture. It seemed I couldn't stand up nor sit down. I hardly knew what to do. I would have to lay in bed with my limb propped up as it seemed I couldn't stand the pain with my limb in any other position. I was often helpless, and unable to get about at all," said Mrs. Mary Speelman, 30th and Martindale Rd., N. E., Canton, O.

"One day a friend recommended that I try Owa-Ton-Na as he knew the terrible suffering I had gone through. It is surprising the way this fine old Indian Remedy works. In a short time, I felt a change in my condition. My stomach acted better, kidneys began to act normal, constipation was relieved and I began to gain strength. Soon those terrible pains eased up and in less than two months' time I could get around as well as ever with just occasional attacks of pain. Now they are completely gone and though it has been several years since I have suffered through this terrible affliction, I have had no recurrence. Anyone who wants to know about Owa-Ton-Na can call on me personally and I will tell them what a wonderful remedy it is."

If you are suffering with an obstinate case of kidney, liver, stomach or intestinal disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, nervousness or a general rundown condition of health why not give the herbal remedy a fair trial? You, too, will be surprised at the way it aids nature in the removal of harmful poisons which cause so much trouble.

Owa-Ton-Na is sold in Salem at Flogging's, Bolger & French and J. H. Lease drug stores.—Adv.
